

Faculty Workshop

Advance Your Academic Writing Skills and Publishing Record: Tips, Tricks and the Secret Sauce

Presenter: Dr. Kathleen P. King

This interactive and practical workshop introduces Dr. Kathleen P. King's proven and powerful strategies to infuse new approaches and success into faculty's writing skills and publishing records. Gleaned from over 15 years of coaching and teaching faculty and doctoral students, this motivating and informative workshop includes specific techniques, strategies and templates to accelerate faculty writing productivity. In this workshop, we will re-examine and transform key writing practices as well as chart a personalized, focused publishing agenda and plan. The session is designed to meet the needs of faculty across a wide range of skills and expertise. "Kathy" works with your faculty to develop a foundation for ramping up academic writing productivity, improving manuscript acceptance rates, tapping the power of technology tools to improve writing and editing, and maximize the benefits of writing with others, near and far.

Kathleen P. King, EdD, is Professor of Higher Education, University of Central Florida, Orlando, FL. Kathy's major areas of research and expertise include transformative learning, instructional technology innovations, leadership, international education, faculty development, and diversity. She has been a professor of adult and higher education for over 20 years at such institutions as Fordham University, New York, NY, and University of South Florida in Tampa, FL. In 2017, Dr. King was awarded membership in the Textbook and Academic Authors' prestigious Council of Fellows because of her achievement in academic publishing and service to the association. She was inducted into The International Continuing and Adult Education Hall of Fame in 2011 in recognition of her outstanding contributions to adult and higher education. As an award winning author who has published over 30 books, she is also a popular keynote and conference speaker, mentor, and professor.

Dr King is widely recognized for her research, service, and contribution to education by other professional groups as AERA, POD, NYACCE and UCEA. Her recent books include Technology and Innovation in Adult Learning (2017, Jossey-Bass publishers); 147 Tips for Emerging Scholars (with Cranston-Gingras, 2014); 21st Century Adult Learning in Our Complex World (2012 with Boden McGill), The Professor's Guide to Taming Technology (2011), Global Models of Human Performance (2009, with Wang); Handbook of Evolving Research in Transformative Learning (10th anniv. ed.) (2009); and Podcasting for Teaching (2nd ed) (2009, with Gura). Through distance technologies Dr. King and her collaborators have reached over 7 million learners. Dr. King earned her Ed.D. and M.Ed. from Widener University, Chester, Pennsylvania. She also has a M.A. from Columbia International, Columbia, SC and a B.A. from Brown University, Providence, RI.